I know I said I'd stay, but let's be realistic
Here the time has arrived to go down our own paths
And yeah I know we've seen better days
So let's raise our drinks and say

This one is for the times we've had
The times we've spend together
I would have never wanted it any other way
This one is for the times we've had
The times we've spend together
So let's hope our paths cross again someday

Making our way in this world, there's a place where we all belong
I know I said that I was lost but I've always hoped that I was wrong
And tomorrow will be a much better day
So much better than the last but never forget about the past

This one is for the times we've had
The times we've spend together
I would have never wanted it any other way
This one is for the times we've had
The times we've spend together
So let's hope our paths cross again someday

I scratched down the words to this song
Trying to find a place that I belong
Mended wounds and broken bones
I'll do anything to find a place to call home

And as we sing the words to this song
We all found a place that we belong
Remembering never, but always together
Who said good things can't last forever?
Forever...
