The days fly by faster than you could ever think
Am I growing up or growing old?
It gets harder to tell every day
Some days I'm more than ready, some days I'm barely here
It's always after the fact that these things make sense to me

I don't know where to draw the lines
I forgot how to draw the lines

There's something deep inside of me
And it's eating me away
Paranoia yeah I'm slipping deeper all the time
Nothings holding me together, I'm coming unglued
I need some solid ground
I need some clarity

I don't know where to draw the lines
Is it even worth it to try anymore?
I forgot how to draw the lines
This is world is starting the blur

I don't know where to draw the lines
This world is starting to blur
I forgot how to draw the lines
Is it even worth it to try anymore
I don't know where to draw the lines
This world is starting to...
