There is no god tonight
There is no one who can save you from yourself tonight
You never had a chance
There is no hope at all
There is no sun up in the sky
There are no stars that shine
Cause we've burned them all out

Yeah we never had a chance to fix this
We were born into a world on fire
The wheels are moving and the brakes are fucking gone
I don't think we will stop until this world has turned to dust

So where is your god tonight?
I can't hear him, I can't feel him
There may be no hope for us
But our embers we still burn bright

And I feel so alive tonight
Despite everything falling apart around me
We are hopeless, We are desperate
But we keep moving forward
Into what?
Our own oblivion!

So where is your god tonight?
I can't hear him, I can't feel him
There may be no hope for us
But our embers we still be burning

There's been no goodbyes tonight
Because this isn't over
There's been no goodbyes tonight
Because this still isn't over

There is no god tonight, There is no god tonight
There may be no hope for us
But we will still be burning
So where is our god tonight?
We can't hear him, We can't feel him

There may be no hope for us
But our embers will still burn bright

There's been no goodbyes tonight
Because we are still burning
