I used to see the world as cold, so cold
I always felt so all alone, oh How did you know you'd find me here? Yeah How did you ever see behind my tears? Yeah

I never realized how anyone could make everything so right
I was so sad, you brought me back, oh

You give me something to believe in, after all that we've been through
The love you give, it all comes back to you
You give me something to believe in, you can see the real me
And here with you is where I'm meant to be

I don't have to imagine anymore, no, oh
All the time it was you I was waiting for, oh
And here we are together side by side, yeah
And nothing seems impossible tonight, oh yeah

You look inside my heart and seem to get me from the start
And we've got the chance, the chance to make this last

You give me something to believe in after all that we've been through
The love you give, it all comes back to you
You give me something to believe in, you can see the
real me
And here with you is where I'm meant to be

Lift us up so high above, higher than high Now we realize, feeling so alive

All it takes is love to find us, guide us all The way that's the one thing you can trust
All we need is love to reach out, show out We belong here together

You give me something to believe in after all that we've been through

The love you give, it all comes back to you, comes back to you
You give me something to believe in, you can see the
real me
And here with you is where I'm meant to be, oh yeah, oh, oh, oh, oh
