"A traveller"

Times a wasting days are short at night I'm rolling in my sleep I got a heart that's made for moving the gravel goes by fast my feet ain't made for standing I got no favorite coffee shop where the folks know who I am a car and a full tank of gas my suit case has had it share of traveling I'm hoping to see a brand new path a whole new way and a ray of light Cause I'm scared that my truth of darkness will corner me at last

Chorus

So I've always ran but I can't out run myself
The call me the traveler the man without a map
But the world is a circle and I wish it could be flat

Cause I can only go so far before I find myself right back Where I started with a wife that has no ring where I started with a son that don't know my name
Where I started you know I never finished anything
So I keep on running thinking I can escape my past then I find myself right back The songs the birds sing are growing faint the lights are dimming at my window My feet ain't strong no more for running My chair has become my home I'm trapped with just my thoughts there's not a day that don't go by that I didn't wish I had another start

Chorus

Cause I've always ran but I can't out run myself
The called me the traveler the man without a map
But the world is a circle

it ain't never been flat So I can only go so far before I find myself right back Cause I've always ran but I can't out run myself
They called me the traveler the man without a map
But the world is a circle
and it ain't never been flat so I can only go so far before I find myself right back where I started with a wife that has not ring
where I started with a son that don't know my name
Where I started you know I never finished anything
So I kept on running you know I kept on running
you know I kept on running thinking I can escape my past but then I find myself right back
