If only i might pray of all the things both lost and gray to run the other way to keep a life of yesterday

And sometimes you'll find love again

Seeing your delight coming off those eyes so bright with morning's sunshine light you close your eyes and fall from sight

And sometimes you'll stay and i know i'll never be the same for longing to pretend

And sometimes you say that you know i'd have never come your way but this time we'll pretend
'til the end
