

Dean Strickland

"I'll Remeber You Always (And The Irony)"

Visit "I'll Remeber You Always \(And The Irony \)" on MotoLyrics.com

I'm finding it difficult to think
About anything other than the way that you've treated me
It is only through my own eyes that I can see
So please forgive me if we view things differently

You've all been very mean to me
And soon will be the time when I must leave
I see no need for more worn out apologies
For one day we may look back on this
And think how it was all meant to be

I must go where my music takes me
It really has nothing to do with anything I believe
It has to do with everything I dream
And that is for the whole wide world to hear me sing

Please don't be glad to see me leave
Please wish me luck and try to support me
You'll show me you're my friend if you do these things
And I'll remember you always and the irony
And I'll remember you always and the irony
Yes, I'll remember you always and the irony
I'll remember you always and the irony

Visit Dean Strickland page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.