Close my eyes and feel the tires grip the road
So far from home
This is a place I've longed to go
There's one thing that I know now:
The real world is disappointing

I cover my head before the next heart stopping moment
It's got to get better than this
I cover my ears before the next mind numbing argument
It's got to get better than this

Step out the door and feel my feet scrape concrete
So close to free
This is a place I've longed to be
There's one thing that I see now:
The reality is shocking

It's got to get better than this
