

Spires That In The Sunset Rise

"1984"

Visit "1984" on MotoLyrics.com

1984

Knockin' on your door

Will you let it come

Will you let it run your life

Someone will be waiting for you at your door

When you get home tonight

Ah yes he's gonna tell you darkness gives you much more

Than you get from the light

Classic plastic guards well they're your special friends

They see you every night

Well they call themselves your brothers

But you know it's no game

You're never out of their sight

It's time you started thinking inside your head

That you should stand up and fight

Oh where will you be when the freedom must end

Just one year from tonight

Classic plastic coppers are your special friends

They see you every night

Well they call themselves protection

But they know it's no game

You're never out of their sight

I'm gonna run through the jungle

I'm not going to ever come back

Visit Spires That In The Sunset Rise page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.