Lay down your bricks and rest your tired arms
Wait till the morning brings another start
When the pain is gone
Then your work is done

Hurt takes you away sometimes
It hurts watching the change in your eyes
New hunts in the morning light
Sleep takes you away at night

Lay down your head and rest your tired heart
Wait till the morning brings another start
When the pain is gone
Then your work is done

When the pain is gone
Then your work is done at last
When the pain is gone
Then your work is done at last
When the pain is gone
Then your work is done at last
When the pain is gone
Then your work is done at last
