

Splinter "Sinking"

Visit "Sinking" on MotoLyrics.com

When I look out at the world tonight
I think that I would rather die But the answer that is sinking in is one you won't believe in I told you this so many times before
And I feel like breaking down I'd like to turn the world around somehow But if you can could ask me how can I believe in what I can't decide I think that you could never understand And I know it's easy to decieve but I won't ask you to believe how things have gotten so far out of control.
And it feels like breaking down got to turn the world around somehow
Who will catch you when you fall when you're world is spinning round And I wish I could know how cos my world is sinking down.

When I look at all the things I see it's always lonley being free
I wonder why we always feel alone
And for every star out in the sky is one more reason left to die Sometimes its hard enough just to believe.
And if you feel like breaking down
got to turn the world around somehow
Who will catch you when you fall when you're world is sinking down
And I wish I could know how
cos my world is sinking down

Visit Splinter page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.