American economy kind of like American dreams
We see with American eyes, we hear American lies
For all the stars and stripes, for all the patriot lies
This country is build on shit racist government political hypocrites

Ah now you will fit in Now you're working over time
Your part of the grind
You've got your number branded
Castrated left here to die

You paid your dues
You're supposed to be getting somewhere
The more you work
Seems you're getting nowhere
Practice what they preach
Till they tell you not to do your very best
They will never notice you
Now your branded
