

The Dears

"Ballad of Humankindness"

Visit "Ballad of Humankindness" on MotoLyrics.com

well i thought that we all cared about peace and i thought that we'd all cry about love and loss
and i thought that we were somehow holding on but i'm just standing here

no one should have to
live all of their life on their own
no one should have to live all of their life on the

every time i think about what i can do
it just slips away
and every time i think that we can make things work well it just slips away and i turn on the news and there's always some dude who's relentlessly bringing me down telling me how there are too many dark people out there who'll never be found
well

no one should have to
live all of their life on their own
no one should have to
live all of their life on their own
no one should have to live that sort of life and i think it's time that we all learned forgiveness and i can't believe the vast amounts of people living on the streets

and i can't believe that i was almost one of them and i almost died

and i can't believe that i haven't lifted a hand and i'm just standing here well i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change
i'm gonna change

no one should have to
live all of their life on their own
no one should have to
live all of their life on their own
no one should have to
live all of their life on their own
no one should have to
live all of their life on their own
/]

Visit The Dears page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.