From above and around
Observations are collected
Knowledge is taken in by curious life forms
Beneath the giver of life, our sun
That may bring hope from beyond

An examination of another kind is done
A view from those who stood high
And breathed the sky

An opinion from below and from above
Some were decided, some were not
A few looked away, but none forgot
Misanthrope

Hater all of all mankind
For those who own their mind
There is no hope
Some good, some bad
They came, they saw and acknowledged
Stay where you are, don't get consumed
Opinion : Dangerous
By what they created from sheer neglect
Fragile, frightful minds
In denial of years and years of shattered souls
That were lost to the power of

A view from those who stood high
And breathed the sky
An opinion from below and from above

Some were decided, some were not
A few looked away, but none forgot

Misanthrope
Hater all of all mankind
There is no hope
For those who own their mind
They came, they saw and acknowledged
Some good, some bad
Opinion : Dangerous
