If I was Superman
And I could fly to heaven
See all that was beautiful
I would never want to come home
To another disaster
Some new catastrophe
No the world doesn't need another burnt out superhero
To be it's galactic referee
No I, I don't want to be Superman
He wants to be me
Yeah, he wants to be me
If I was Superman
I could turn back the hands of time
Go back and see if Jesus really did release us
That's the question on my mind
But if I was the only one who knew the truth
Could I get any person to believe?
No second hand information
Is gonna make that transformation
And no I don't want that responsibility
Yeah, No I, I don't want to be Superman
He wants to be me
Well I might be made of steel
But the pain it's all too real
And all the problems you can't see
That everyone seems to dump them
Seems to dump them on me
So no more disaster
And I know, no more catastrophe
No world is not going to miss one more fed up superhero
Being it's galactic refugee
Yeah, No I, I don't want to be Superman
I don't want to be some other man
No I, I don't want to be Superman
He wants to be me
