What I live for, I walk every step you can't Waht I die for, each breath I take used against

If you could be here now, we would break them down
See our world is changing, we can bring them down
But I can't run away, I will not back down
I will go on raging

One, two, three, four, I count way that keep us down
I can't breath now, I'll scream 'till you hear this sound

If you could be here now, we would break them down
See our world is changing, we can bring them down
But I can't run away, I will not back down
I will go on raging

If you could be here now, we would break them down
See our world is changing, we can bring them down
But I can't run away, I will not back down
I will go on raging

I promise with these words, I will destroy all
I will fucking break them
Tear their souls apart, cast down with this black heart
They will never take me, NO!
