Are you cryin' tonight?
Are you feelin' all right?
I told the world that you were down on your luck

You were one of a kind
One who'd never give it up
Even when they put a price on your head

Has anyone heard the tales you tell
Or seen the scars you wear?
Did anyone speak up when you fell?
Does anybody care?

Rise again, little fighter
And let the world know the reason why
Shout again, little fighter
And don't let it impair the things you do

And you were one with the courts
And a reason to be
You were a fighter for peace on this earth

And you were never afraid
You put your life on the line
And you were always so long out on the sea

Without a weapon in your hand
You came to fight a war
They took your life but didn't know
That you will never die

Rise again, little fighter
And let the world know the reason why
Shout again, little fighter
And don't let it impair the things you do

Are you feelin' all right?
'Cause I care, care

Run along, little fighter
Oh, 'cause I was there beside you
Never stop believin', so rise

Rise, rise

Rise again, little fighter
And let the world know the reason why
Shout again, little fighter
And don't let it impair the things you do

Rise again, little fighter
(Don't stop believin')
And let the world know the reason why

Shout again, little fighter
(And keep on movin')
And don't let it impair the things you do
Yeah, don't let it ever end the things you do
