Stand like God with your authority
A bank account is what shows that you're better than me
Ruin lives just to get to the top
Money is worthless when everything's gone

It will take you're life, can't have mine
Will take you're life, can't have mine
(I, not, give, my, no, no, no)

Nothing equals nothing
Once you take your last breath, there's no turning
Nothing equals nothing
Once you take your last breath, there's no turning

Back in time, let's rewind your life
Before silver and gold slowly replaced your eyes
It's all that you need, all that you wanted
Shell of a man that greed has now haunted

It will take you're life, can't have mine
Will take you're life, can't have mine
(I, not, give, my, no, no, no)

Nothing equals nothing
Once you take your last breath, there's no turning
Nothing equals nothing
Once you take your last breath, there's no turning

When I'm staring straight into your eyes
Tell me, is this life or just a lie?
If I look deep I see hollow eyes
And all your dreams of empty dollar signs

When I reach out, hatred burns my hands
I see no respect for another man
As I reach out far to touch the sky
I scream, "What happened to your life?"

Go

Nothing equals nothing

Once you take your last breath, there's no turning
Nothing equals nothing
Once you take your last breath

It will take your life
It will take your life
It will take your life
It can't have my life
