Come a little closer
You're my confidant

When the sun fades into the night
And my thought drift across the day
There's a feeling I am holding tight
And I'm thankful that you're just a prayer away
I've been longing for the one who shares my heart

Come a little closer
You're my confidant
You're the one who comforts me

Its so hard in this shallow age
To find a more faithful friend
When I call on your sweet name
You're right beside me and you stay until the end

Come a little closer
Have I told you
You're my confidant
And I know you are here

Oh your careful with all my secrets
I tell you my heart whatever I feel
With you I know I can be real
You know what ill say before I start
You're the keeper of my heart

Yes you are
You're my confidant
I know you are listening
I see your face and have no fear
Inside my heart ill let you see
You can keep my secret
