

Staffan Hellstrand

"Justin Costa"

Visit "Justin Costa" on MotoLyrics.com

And this is pain, a ghost that seems to linger. It's something you and I have both felt, but at least there's a weight at the end of this long rope. [Just know that no matter who calls your name, you and I now share a bond.] Under a blade (a silhouette in silver), they've adjusted all that makes us human. But we can peer through shadows, and know that all we left behind was a fault and a flaw... a ripple in our design. Together we will stand unbroken, together we remain. This one's for Justin. And so, as long as we both shall remain here, I'll be the shoulder that you can lean onto, Justin.

Visit Staffan Hellstrand page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.