You have your promises and they're neverending.
But your lies with your disguise, you keep yourself from me.

Hidden and locked away.

It's been so long since I've seen your face.

All you had to give me I took, but it's not enough.

All that I could be, I was, but still you need more.

Look a little closer, and maybe you'll see...

It was you who wasn't good enough for me.

I keep pretending that you could fulfill me.

And I keep imagining what perfect could be.

Would be, will be, maybe, but not this way.

I've given up on getting through.

I see now it could never ever work with you.

All you had to give me I took, but it's not enough.

All that I could be, I was, but still you need more.

Look a little closer, and maybe you'll see...

It was you who wasn't good enough for me.

I can't forget all the things that you said.

All the words in my head.

Take me away from this place.

I won't be the one to forgive and forget,

Cause I'm always the one, and I'm done.

All you had to give me I took, but it's not enough.

All that I could be, I was, but still you need more.

Look a little closer, and maybe you'll see...

It was you who wasn't good enough for me.
