Let's speak in breaths cause we can say more without Using words and you're my favorite topic Where's the heart? Where's the fire? Where's the look in your eyes?
I wanna see what you got now are you ready to go?

Your touch, my smile, this is my favorite moment
Don't give in too early cause I'm here for the chase Your cheek, my lips, I like to keep it simple You're not the type of person that I want to replace

And I like the look of where this is going
And you are so scared of getting hurt
And you know it's showing

You can't say honestly that this is what you came for
And I want more than just one night of our hands against the headboard

So what's it gonna take to keep you coming around?
Web or string of words? Something you've never heard?
And I'll make this a moment you can never forget
Not a second to waste when you're taking chances

And I like the look of where this is going
And you are so scared of getting hurt
And you know it's showing

You can't say honestly that this is what you came for
And I want more than just one night of our hands
against the headboard
You know this well, I'm your best bet
It's more than what is spoken
What's the point of giving up on me when I'm waking up alone ever again?

You can't say honestly that this is what you came for
I want more than just one night of our hands against the headboard
You can't say honestly that this is what you came for

I want more than just one night of our hands against
the headboard
You know this well, I'm your best bet
It's more than what is spoken
What's the point of giving up on me when I'm waking up alone ever again?
