When the rains all gone
You'll be standing by a rainbow
You'll be looking at me
And I'll be looking at you
Now all things are for the better
You know these things they don't last forever
If you had only read all my letters
You'd know that I think you are a treasure
Today and every single tomorrow
Born through all are heartache and sorrow
Was built on all these things we've borrowed
There's always love between us
We tried so hard
There's always love between us these things die hard
There's always love between us
