6 o'clock and I'm dying for this
Did you ever really care about me
He's just like everybody
And everybody's just like me

Today it might be too late
Someday it might be too late
And you know it's true

Take my hand and
Break my heart
We could be apart of something more
Apart of something more
See my life through
Bloodshot eyes
We could be apart of something more
Apart of something more

Pray for another Sunday
Wish this could be the end
I can't wait cause I know your gonna drop him
I can't just say it but you know it's true

Today it might be too late
And Someday it might be too late
Yeah you know it's true

Take my hand and
Break my heart
We could be apart of something more
Apart of something more
See my life through
Bloodshot eyes
We could be apart of something more
Apart of something more

With my hands behind my back
And this rope around my neck
I'll make this easier on him
And try to let you go
I've got one thing you need to know
With your picture on the floor

Won't you just look me in the eyes
Before you slit my throat

Take my hand and
Break my heart
We could be apart of something more
Apart of something more
See my life through
Bloodshot eyes
We could be apart of something more
Apart of something more

See my life through
Bloodshot eyes
We could be apart of something more
