I think about the days
Im cherishing these memories we have made
We still have our stories
About the times
We stayed up all night talking on the telephone again

We have the best times in life
And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you
We have the best times in life
And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you, again

I saw you last night
Im missing you the most
When i look into your eyes
I can't stop pretending
That im okay
Im wishing you were sitting home
Thinking about me

And i cant take much more of this
Cause im falling apart without you
And even though i know you're leaving
Im praying it's not for good
For good

We have the best times in life
And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you
We have the best times in life
And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you, again

We have the best times in life
And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you
We have the best times in life
And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you, again

We have the best times in life

And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you
We have the best times in life
And i realize its over
Im falling apart without you, again

I realize its over
I realize its over
I realize its over now
Again
