The moon is full I see the stars
Trough the windshield of my car
Seems like ages since I left it all behind

I can feel the distance closing in Gonna see my family see my friends
Oh I sure could use change of mind

Know just what I want to do all day
Sit around that old cafe
Talk of anything anything but me

'Cause I've done far too much of that lately

There's nothing wrong with loving where you're from
That's the way I feel and the feeling's strong
Every place I go just makes it clear
There's no better place for me than here

As I walk into the kitchen door
She meets me halfway 'cross the floor
We both begin to speak at the same time

Then we stop
To our surprise
In the silence we both realize
Then she laughs at me and she says oh never mind

And I feel her lips on mine

There's nothing wrong with loving where you're
from
That's the way I feel and the feeling's strong
Every place I go just makes it clear
There's no better place for me than here

But of all the things I can miss
Baby just remember this
Your loving arms and your tender kiss
Are my favorite welcome home
My favorite welcome home

But of all the things I can miss
Baby just remember this
Your loving arms and your tender kiss
Are my favorite welcome home
My favorite welcome home
