You keep me waiting and I don't understand
But I'm trying hard to keep my cool
No use in hiding I know where you are
'Cause you've left too many clues

Why do you say that you want me
When someone else is holding you?
Oh, I'm always ready to see you
So find the time

Find the time
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?

I'm telling everyone that you're still my man
I can hear them laugh behind my back
Oh, come on and prove it to me, show me I'm right
'Cause it's time to face the facts

So many lovers all over the place
But they never mean that much to you
You know it's me that you really want
So find the time

Find the time
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?

Find the time
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?

You keep me waiting and I don't understand
But I'm trying hard to keep my cool
No use in hiding, I know where you are
'Cause you've left too many clues

Why do you say that you want me

When someone else is holding you?
Oh, you know, it's me that you really need
So find the time

Find the time
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?

Find the time
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?
When will you find the time?

I'm telling everybody that you're still my man
I can hear them laugh behind my back

Find the time
You gotta find me
You gotta find me
Find the time

Find the time
Baby, find the time
Baby, find the time
Find the time

Find the time
I'm telling everybody
That you're still my man
Find the time
