All the lonely faces on the train
In a far away regret or pain
City worn they're twisted inside out Longing for the love they do without, they do without

Well maybe I'm projecting What I wish I could deny
Slowly disconnecting
Building up a wall to ease my mind
Ease my mind (building up a wall), ease my mind, but it won't let me be
My mind, It's a crime, I can't be blind, there's no hiding

All the shadows walking through the door
Every day is like the day before Disappear with every compromise Like a shell that sees through empty eyes, through empty eyes

Defeated I'm confessing
To my love I've been unkind
God is out of blessings
Building up a wall to ease my mind
Ease my mind (building up a wall), ease my mind, but it won't let me be

(Building up a wall)

Ease my mind, ease my mind Cause it won't let me be
