(R. Resmini)

If you were to fulfill my desires Imagine the price you'd pay You've never felt the anguish That I've hidden inside My pain shared unto you Drink the tears I've cried Just tell me how hard life is When you haven't bled Tell me what you feel As a tear descends Principle of pain and pleasure Actions sacred yet profane Within the temple of the flesh Private rituals are ordained Dignity torn, ripped to shreds Innocence lost nothing remains Within blood I've spilled Wash yourself clean Reptile shed your guilt Suffer unto me No one is innocent We all have our crosses to bear Once you felt you were safe in a familiar place Desire and purpose rearranged Stumble over a piece of your past

you wish kept locked away To isolate yourself from misery and pain You want to isolate yourself Isolate yourself from the misery and the pain Cast your pride aside and let your emotions take control It's something you want to feel so let the tears fall Sifting through remnants of what you left behind Reopening scars to see what I find Dignity torn,
ripped to shreds Innocence lost Nothing remains Sifting through remnants of what you left behind Dignity torn, ripped to shreds Open
wounds never mend
