drawn to the moment of fiction rewarded without hesitation i learn to discharge the tension brought about by crude inspiration and you make a mockery of yourself in your false reality you can't help you're shameless you are the master magician the martyr of false invention wearing your veil and dented crown it's always so stable on the ground and you flaunt your bruises and wealth as you live in a shadow of yourself you're shameless
