(Don Reid - Harold Reid)

Yesterday will never be forgotten
Tomorrow's ten thousand years away
Everything we ever had together
We owe it all to yesterday.

Do you remember my old Ford how cold it used to get
And the blanket that we used to wrap up in
Well you that Ford and blanket all got away from me
God I'd love to get you all together again.

Yesterday will never be forgotten
Tomorrow's ten thousand years away
Everything we ever had together
We owe it all to yesterday.

Do you know I think about you too much
Everything I said then I still mean
If we could do it over I wouldn't change a thing
Your bobby socks keep dancing in my dreams.

Yesterday will never be forgotten
Tomorrow's ten thousand years away
Everything we ever had together
We owe it all to yesterday...
