(Don Reid)

And what will happen to you are you sure you'll be all right
When you'll walk away from me today into a brand new light
Will you do and say to him things you did and said to me
Do you think you'll touch him as much as you're still touching me.

Can you promise me you'll never be sorry late at night And if you think you've found that man you've been dreaming of
Ask him please to treat with ease the woman I still love.

me
Do you think you'll touch him as much as you're still
touching me
Oh, and ask him please to treat with ease the woman I still love.
