My life was scattered without a clue
To get it straight seemed like more than I could do
I felt useless deep inside
Like somebody just along for the ride
Everything fell into place
The moment I saw your face
All of lifes mysteries
Suddenly made sense to me

Chorus

Aint it funny how the pieces fit together
Once you finally found the missing part
I thought I'd be incomplete forever
But all that I was missing was your heart
Baby all that I was missing was your heart

I was lonely
Lost and cold
When you reached out your hand for me to hold
You gave me shelter
Kept me warm
I found all I've ever searched for in your arms
I saw the grand design
Your soul reached out for mine
All of loves mysteries
Suddenly were history
