If you never knew the difference you'd let em' kill each other
And say it's not my problem, don't bother me
If you never knew the difference, you would laugh for hours
Cause you had the time to
Wanna hear a secret?
You don't know who you are and your head is somewhere stuck so far so far
And if sleep were heaven, we're in limbo so far
If you never knew the difference you wouldn't run in circles
And act like there's a problem with every thing
But since you know the difference, try hard not to suffer
Now and then smile
When you memorize the point, you sedatize yourself
