I've been driving 55, feels like my whole life Broken hearted when there is nothing to be broken hearted for
And though it hurts just to be alive
I just started to see that I cannot be poor
That's why I've got nothing to lose
That's why I've got nothing to lose That's why I've got nothing to prove Sure enough I've got nothing to lose

It takes a lot to love one person for all the days of your life
To be faithful, when your faith has left you shallow Your just being faithful to yourself Cause when they open the book, and you take a good look, you ain't got nobody else

Born and raised in New England, America Mountains of riches and lovers divorced
You can't keep from dying, but someone may take care of you
You'll be granted your wishes when you wish for no more
