Somewhere South of Syracuse or West of Buffalo
I woke up in a cold sweat and got the urge to go Daylight Savings lover, how about one more kiss?
Just to get me started, just to get me through this
Use me like you would the Sun
Burn until we burn it out, I'll see you on the run
Use me like I am a lighting bolt
Strike me down

Burning up the highway, I've been dreaming of the day
The sun comes up on Boston and you're so far away
The simpler the thought it seems the more profound
And I'll throw you on the floor and you (I) will listen when I (you) say

Use me like you would the Sun
Burn it till we burn it out I'll see you on the run
Use me like I am a lightning bolt
Strike me down

Leaving in the morning time, leaving noon and night Remember what you said, well I know now you were right
"It takes a bigger man to stay", if I meant that then we'd be ok
I love it how you understand, I wasn't wired that way

Use me like you would the Sun
Burn me till you burn me out I'll see you on the run
Use me like I am a lightning bolt
Strike me down
