I've never been here before
Didn't know where to go
Never met you before

I've never been to your home
That smells not unknown
Foot steps made of stone
Walking feels familiar

You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, underground, pick a part that's new
You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, upside down, pick a part that's new

People drinking on their own
Push buttons on the phone
Was I here once before?

Is that my voice on the phone?
That last drink on my own
Did I ever leave at all?
Confusions familiar

You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, underground, pick a part that's new
You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, upside down, pick a part that's new

You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, underground, pick a part that's new
You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, upside down, anything that's new

You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, underground, pick a part that's new
You can do all the things that you like to do
All around, upside down, pick a part that's new

So what's new to you?
What's new to you?
What's new to you?
