There are no words to say
Just silence now
Hold it in
No one will know
No one but me

Anger draws me in
But nothing comes out
Hide these feelings inside

Can we get back to a time when things were fine
Can we turn the other cheek and still stay in line
Can we find the love we know we need
Can we escape this and be freed?

Did I want things this way
Should I run
Should I stay
Make things right
Or look away

Time and again we've laid this
Between you and me
Break down these walls
It has taken too long
To get this right
Can we face up to this

Can we get back to a time when things were fine
Can we turn the other cheek and still stay in line
Can we find the love we know we need
Can we escape this and be freed?

Did I want things this way
Should I run
Should I stay
Make things right
Or look away
We've been wrong for so long
We've let things come undone
How long will it take
Will forgiveness come

This is driving us apart
This is tearing us apart
This is driving us apart again

Can we make this right again
Can we make this right again
Can we make this right again
Can we make this right again
