The last time I saw you
Was hard for me too
To stand before the opening
As silence echoed through

Lowered to the ground
How could I say
The thing I might have said
Had I known you more

But the distances between us
Made the bridges hard to gap
And the memories I have
Are long since forgotten
Long since forgotten

I have so many words for you
Yet I have so few
What is there left to say?
Say goodbye today

It was hard to be near you
So I turned my back
The final chapter written
Everything will fade to black

Not knowing how to feel
Not knowing how to say
The things I might've said
Had I known you more

But the distances between us
Made the bridges hard to gap
And the memories I have
Are long since forgotten
Long since forgotten

I have so many words for you
Yet I have so few
What is there left to say?
Say goodbye today

I wonder where you are
It's a thought that won't escape
And all I can do is wait
