When all is said and done
And I see Your face
There's sorrow in Your eyes

I run from You
I hide away
Push this further, deep inside

Why do I do what I hate
And watch the sin pass through me
I promised my life to You
And You, and You alone
Could be more than I ever need
My words fall
And I cut away
Picking up the pieces

For one more day
Hanging on when all is gone
And I'm learning
You're refusing to let me go

My failures slip underneath
The very eyes that lies decieve
So I carry on
In all that's wrong
But words keep finding this heart of mine

I promised my life to You
And You, and You alone
Could be more than I ever need
My words fall
And I cut away
Picking up the pieces

For one more day
Hanging on when all is gone
And I'm learning
You're refusing to let me go
