

Sterling "Mayday"

Visit "Mayday" on MotoLyrics.com

Well it started with a turn of a page. One last waltz sets the stage. Things get carried away One life to give, oh there it is. You live a life you don't care to live. So you make it end And tell me slow with a whisper and a shock. Take out the key throw away the lock. Your hearts bleeding now

Why don't you try, the ship still sinks to the ground too.
(this is the end)
But you never try the engines burning slowly turning.
(this is the end)

He said no she said yes. Yet another zip of that dress.
Broken hearts bow Life support whoops pulls the chord, nurse thought the patient was getting bored. Live with whoa Another child sleeps in the deep of the night, here comes the demon to turn on the light. (Whoa)

Why don't you try, the ship still sinks to the ground too
(this is the end)
But you never try the engines burning slowly turning (this is the end)

Life starts down right now, somehow, it's all forgettable
Yet you try hard enough to oh and see, the best in me So, why you feel so possibly the same? Who is all to blame? We are all to blame Said why don't you feel oh all the same. Who is all to blame? We're all to blame I'm tired of nights, with scared open eyes. Of the broke buried why don't you stop dreaming Cause now is not enough, to tell me when will it be everything to me

Visit Sterling page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.