Life is a journey and I am one man,
Fighting for passion and making big plans,
The future was so full of hope,
And that's what we all need the most,
I never lose hope.

I find myself turning to friends when I'm down,
Friends who are gone and are never around,
I fear I am standing alone,
A fear that has suddenly grown into Reality.

I've been running for years it seems,
With a heart full of hope I've been chasing a dream,
This old train's running out of steam,
It's time to crash and burn,

(Chorus)
I've been searching for an answer,
To chase all my day dreams away.
Unsatisfaction is my cancer,
Growing in me day by day.
I find my dreams are lies,
I guess that's the chance that we take,
I'll turn these lies to truths and lead you to me,
Change Reality.

Throw regret behind me and caution as well,
I'll fight till the end, make some stories to tell,
About how I never lost hope,
Even when the future was broke,
I never lose hope.

I've been running for years it seems,
With a heart full of hope I've been chasing a dream,
I pushed the train when it ran out of steam,
I never crashed or burned.

(Chorus 2x)
