Sit right next to me
Against the glass
Where we both can see
Focus on the ground
Disbelief of where we used to be
What should i do now
I'm upside down fighting with gravity
I'll just lock the door
And they won't know how to find me
I couldn't share it
You never saw it
Coming around
Even the bad parts
Move along better than they should
I'm waiting here
To disappear
Have you ever been so tired of yourself
And i'll meet you here
In the Troposphere
Lately I just haven't been myself
Back here on the ground
You're halfway gone
And the traffic drowns you out
Driving past your school
I grew up here looking at you
I couldn't share it
You never saw it
Coming around
Even the bad parts
Move along better than they should
I'm waiting here
To disappear
Have you ever been so tired of yourself
And i'll meet you here in the Troposphere
Lately I just haven't been myself
