I'm conflicted with what I want and what I need
I predicted a different kind of me
I'm convicted of crimes I need to pay
I'm addicted to the guilty dirty stains
Who are you to tell me that you love me
And who am I to question who you are
Who are you to wrap your arms around me
Who are you to carry me this far
Given the state of my human heart
I'm injected with the power of your touch
I'm infected by the lies I hate so much
I'm confused and dazed
That your glorious gaze made it's way to me
Through the pain and the shame and the blame you set me free
Who are you to tell me that you love me
And who am I to question who you are
Who are you to wrap your arms around me
Who are you to carry me this far
Given the state of my human heart
Take me away from my conflicted mind take me away
Take me away and put your heart in mine
take me away
