

Steve Morgan And Band "So Much For A Welcome"

Visit "So Much For A Welcome" on MotoLyrics.com

Known for a while now yet not known to me at all
Confusing language like some unknown mating call
Frequent anger on the flawless, fuzzy streets
Hard to find your head, and harder with your feet

When the lovers come here, I'll just disappear
I will soon depart and consequently roam
I will find my solace hidden in my fear
I will leave forever, so much for this home

Returning to this place I felt a bit perplexed
I couldn't tell you there and then what happened next
They were different, and I knew my eyes were lost
Who knew that leaving would burden such a cost?

When the lovers come here, I'll just disappear
I will soon depart and consequently roam
I will find my solace hidden in my fear
I will leave forever, so much for this home

When the lovers come here, I'll just disappear
I will soon depart and consequently roam
I will find my solace hidden in my fear
I will leave forever, so much for my home

Visit Steve Morgan And Band page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.