You know I could've sworn
That I was finally free
Completely and forever over you
Oh, I was getting along
I even started to believe
That I was finally over these blues
But I was wrong and.
You're on my heart again
That's the way it's always been
When the memories begin
I can pretend, but I can't win.
You're on my heart again
I guess that it will never end
'Cause just when I'm about to mend
You start on my heart again.
It happens every time
I'll be doing good and then
I look up and see a car like yours go by
Oh I can't help myself
I feel the emptiness again
I've been loving you for so long
I know you're gone but.
You're on my heart again
That's the way it's always been
When the memories begin
I can pretend, but I can't win.
You're on my heart again
I guess that it will never end
'Cause just when I'm about to mend
You start on my heart again.
I was wrong
It's so strong
And you're here on my heart again...
