(Intro)

Come and take a look out through my eyes
And you decide why people act this way
People thieving, fighting, telling lies
They criticize and hate each other

Nature colors all have changes some how
The seas are brown the skies are thick and grey
All of these things make me feel so down
And think about finding my own place

A place where we can toast and drink
A place where we can share and some weed
A place where there's no bullshit and...
Every body can come

(Reff)

Welcome to my paradise
Where this sky so blue Where the sunshine so bright
Welcome to my paradise
Where you can be free Where the party never ending
