Well who is this angry man I see
In the mirror looking back at me?
It's a man who's tired, a man who's weak,
It's a man who needs a Saviour.

And who is this fearful little child
Crying out from home, lost in the wild?
With a lonely heart that's fading fast,
It's a child who needs a Saviour.
A child who needs a Saviour.

And what is this longing in my soul
That I get so scared and angry?
I need more than just a little help,
I need someone who will save me.

Come and save me,
I need someone to save me.
Who will save me?
Come and save me.

And who is this One nailed to the cross
Who would rather die then leave us lost?
He's come to rescue us, come to set us free.
Hallelujah, hallelujah!
It is Christ the Lord our Saviour.
