And again, the clouds getting away Well i guess, this is it for..today thinking about a way to open your eyes but it's only confusing me more

I'm searching, but i don't even know what for Well it must be words but I can't find them and therefor

I lie about everything
I lie I lie

Yeah now I can see those bright blue eyes they're watching me everytime I look away

Why, tell me why, is the sweetest candy always the hardest one to get I'm lying here without knowing what i said well you must have presst the button in my head

Well you talk to me again, after all I've put him through Well I make him listen to my story, that's what I always want him to do Well I run into him today, just like I did yesterday Or would that be a little bit overdone?
a little bit overdone
