

Still Breathing

"Forsaken"

Visit "Forsaken" on MotoLyrics.com

Something that I can never change my life I have I will give away show you show you we can live life free who are the ones forsaken we watch them suffer an organized conspiracy watch their blood run desensitize the agony sickened leaders they aren't so far their small attachments the center of it all is it something that I can never change the lies they speak come forth to betray show you show you we can live life free but shot in our backs it's just another design to intrigue the masses misdirection is a a supple fate the emphasis will swell exposed we will be blinded no more system that rots method that rots uncover to find structure that burns nation that burns uncover to find fueled by greed fueled by hate uncover to find never can they take they can't take you take this pain away and what our lives are worth justified throughout this strife oppressed by trust in a a broken purpose our hands are soiled for it's lives are predicted for cost the misconception reveals we are ONE is it something that I can never change my life I have I will give away show you show you we can live life free but no more forsaken we watch them suffer an organized conspiracy we watch their blood run desensitize the agony sickened leaders they aren't so far it's their small attachments are the center of it all is it something that we can never change my life I have I will give away show you show you we can live life free who are the ones forsaken who are the ones forsaken

Visit Still Breathing page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.